

IT'S NOT CHEATING. IT'S SHARING.

Environmentally responsible products are plentiful, and certification standards can be challenging to understand. If you think green cleaning might be the way to go, but can't invest the time to research all the options, xpedx has the answers.

We did your homework for you.

Our new Environmental Solutions portfolio captures the critical information you need, a straightforward "how-to" guide to get you started, and an overview of the green products and programs available from the industry's leading manufacturers.

From floor mats to can liners, chemicals to equipment, hand soap to towel and tissue – even microfiber – you can go green at every turn. Let us show you how.

Leading Manufacturers. National Distribution.
